LEADERS HERE AT CONVENTION

MAKING PLANS FOR ANNUAL MEETING OF TEACHERS

GOV. BAKER IS COMING

Senator Williams Has Also Accepted Invitation—Sessions Held at College October 15-17

A number of outstanding educators and notables in other fields of activity are on the program at the annual convention of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association to be held here October 15-17.

Among those who have already accepted invitations to speak here before the teachers are Governor Sam A. Baker, Senator George H. Williams, Charles A. Lee, state superintendent of schools, Miss Mary McSkimmon of Brookline, Mass., president of the National Education Association, Miss Ella V. Dobbs, president of the Missouri Teachers Association, Dr. P. P. Claxton, former United States Commissioner of Education, W. A. Brandenberg, president of the Pittsburg, Kan. State Normal, Dr. J. W. Searson of the University of Nebraska and Dr. H. J. Waters of the Kansas City Weekly Star.

It was hoped that Governor Miriam A. Ferguson of Texas would be here for the meeting and speak on the final day but a news dispatch received today said she had previously made an engagement for that day and will be unable to attend.

From 1,500 to 2,000 students are expected to attend the teachers meeting here on account of the state convention being in St. Louis this year.

Reduced railroad rates will be granted to all those coming for the meeting here.

Dr. Fred Keller, secretary of the association, has announced that two outstanding entertainment features are on the program. On the afternoon of October 16 the Kirksville "Bulldogs" and the Maryville "Bearcats" will meet on the local gridiron in the annual homecoming game.

On the following day, there will be the screen showing of George Elliott's famous novel, "Romola." The annual alumni party and dance will be held on Friday evening.

Among the musical features planned during the three-day convention here is the singing of five choruses, including selections from Handel's "Messiah" by the College chorus of two hundred voices.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Neal of Cedar Rapids, Ia., uncle and aunt of the young man, came this morning to attend the funeral.

The young man had been ill of uremic poisoning since last Tuesday evening and a hemorrhage suffered Saturday caused death. He was conscious throughout his illness.

12 Freight Cars in Wreck Sunday

Were Derailed a Mile and Half West of Conception Junction—Track to Be Cleared This Afternoon

Twelve freight cars containing meat of train No. 94 on the Wabash were derailed about 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning about a mile and half west of Conception Junction. These cars went off the track in a cut.

Traffic on the Wabash had to be detoured from Conception Junction to the Great Western to St. Joseph and then via Burlington to Maryville. It was reported the track would be ready for traffic this afternoon. There were four trains in the local yards this afternoon awaiting the opening of the track. These trains were passenger No. 12, going east, and three freight trains.

The freight train was a double header going east. Three cars of live stock had passed safely over the track where the derailment took place. The meat cars were about in the middle of the train. No one was injured.

AUTO THIEVES ARE CAUGHT

APPREHENDED NEAR HAMBURG, IOWA, SATURDAY.

WAIVE PRELIMINARY

One admitting his guilt, and another saying he did not want to give bond, Harry Dolzal, 24, who has been in Colo., Irvin Porter, 20, and Elbert McKee 19, both of Maryville, waived preliminary hearing in the justice court of Judge Warren L. Johnson this morning on charges of robbery and grand larceny. The three confessed to the sheriff that they stole the C. E. Wells Buick automobile Friday night and the same evening held up and robbed Roy Herndon at Orrsburg of $25.

The prisoners were brought back to Maryville last night by Sheriff L. B. Campbell, Lloyd Heifner and Dean Campbell, from Sidney, Ia., where they were held in custody by the sheriff there from Saturday afternoon until yesterday.

Dolzal, who has a record in the Nebraska penitentiary on burglary and larceny charge, and Porter and McKee were apprehended by the sheriff and deputies of Fremont County, Iowa, Saturday afternoon about four miles out of Hamburg, Ia. Porter was armed with a .38 caliber revolver at the time but did not get a chance to use it as it caught in the holster.

The men had abandoned the Wells car about fifteen miles east of Hamburg. Mr. Wells accompanied the sheriff to Sidney, Saturday night to bring his automobile to Maryville, but was unable to do so because a bearing had burned out from lack of oil.

In justice court this morning none of the prisoners gave bond and were bound over to the October term of the circuit court. Dolzal came to Maryville only last Friday. The other two men live in Maryville, Porter having worked for a local bakery and McKee drove a taxi cab here up until recently.

In all probability they will plead guilty to the charges brought against them when their case is brought up in circuit court.

The following out of-town relatives are expected for the funeral: Mr. and Mrs. John Koch and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Rush of St. Joseph, and Mr. and Mrs. William McNamara of Omaha.

Mr. Hooker was trustee of Polk Township for two terms and was a member of the city council for several terms under the administration of the late W. T. Garrett.

Mr. Hooker was married to Matilda Rebecca Townsend at Warren, Joe Davis County, Ill., October 22, 1867. His widow survives with one son, Hal T. Hooker of Maryville. PAVING JOB IS LET AT $7,609

ONLY BID SUBMITTED

Work on West Fifth Street to Start on Thursday—Two Sign Permits are Granted

The last contract to be let this year by the city council for paving in Maryville was awarded this afternoon to the Cook & O'Brien Construction Co. of Kansas City, the only company putting in a bid.

The contract that was awarded, calls for an outlay of $7,609.20 for seven inch re-inforced concrete on Walnut street between Halsey and Thompson streets. The figures submitted by the Cook & O'Brien Co. that were accepted are as follows:

$2.62 a square yard for 2,210 square yards of pavement—$5,790.20.

70 cents a cubic yard for 750 yard of excavation and grading—$525.

15 cents a square yard for 2,210 square yards rolling and finishing—$331.50.

55 cents a foot for 1,750 lineal feet of five inch curb—$1,962.50.

Of the several contracts that have been let by the city council this year, all have been awarded to the Cook & O'Brien Construction Co., which has either been the lowest bidder or the only company to put in a bid.

The successful bidder today now has three projects in the city to finish before winter sets in. They are for seven inch re-inforced paving on Walnut street from Seventh street to the Wabash right-of-way; the contract let today; and paving on West Fifth street from Mulberry street to the Wabash right-of-way. Jack Canon, superintendent for the company said this afternoon he expected to get a crew working on West Fifth by Thursday.

The city council granted permits for the erection of two signs:

J. A. Kramer, electrical sign to be erected at 318 North Main, size 30 by 18 inches.

Declares Aviation in "Deplorable Condition"

Brooks Field Officer Echoes Views of Aviators in Criticizing Present Air Policy of Government

Washington, Sept. 28.—America has only fourteen fully equipped attack planes ready to meet an enemy in the air, Maj. Harvey B. Burwell, commanding officer of the third attack group at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex., today informed the President's air board.

Even the planes in the attack group, Burwell said, are rebuilt machines and the personnel is far below the war-time strength.

Washington, Sept. 28—American aviation is in a deplorable condition.

This was the frank statement today by Major Ralph Royce, Brooks Field, San Antonio, Tex., in testifying before the President's air board.

Echoing views of brother flyers, Royce sharply criticized the air policies of his superiors and declared that "acute dissatisfaction existed among the nation's air pilots."

Miss Lucille Wright went to St. Joseph this morning where she will enter Platts Business College for a course in business administration.

FESTIVAL TO OPEN TONIGHT

PROGRAM FORMALLY STARTS AT 7 P. M.

EXCELLENT FREE ACTS

Although Substitution Is Made, Those Secured Are Better Than Original —Bands to Furnish Music.

The third annual Maryville Fall Festival will formally open at 7 o'clock tonight when the S. W. Brundage Carnival Co. and three of the free acts obtained by the Maryville Chamber of Commerce will be ready for showing.

Music will be furnished by the Brundage band as well as the one under the direction of H. O. Hickernell of the College Conservatory of Music. The latter organization consists of high school, town and College musicians and will play at all of the free acts.

Two of the acts obtained by the Maryville Chamber of Commerce will be unable to fill their engagements in Maryville on account of a train wreck and other difficulties.

First-class substitutes have been provided, however, at a considerable higher price than the original features and the committee feels that it has been extremely fortunate in securing such an array of talent for the seven free acts.

The Flying Floyds, with a high aerial act, and the Howe & Cooke team will arrive in Maryville tomorrow morning and will be ready for showing by afternoon.

In addition to Mr. Curran, the Manello & Co. entertainers arrived in the city today and will be ready for showing tonight.

The latter organization will present its performances at 7:30 and 9 o'clock on a platform on West Third street, near the Remus store.

Mr. Curran will present his famous act at 10 o'clock tonight in front of the Elks Club.

Cliff Curran, who furnishes one of the free acts at the Fall Festival, arrived in Maryville yesterday morning from Oshkosh, Wis., where he showed last week at the Winnebago County Fair. Mr. Curran is of pleasing personality, modest and unassuming. His act consists of stunts on a seventy-foot pole.

It will be necessary for him to close his engagement here Friday afternoon after his regular performance in order to go to Texas, where he opens an engagement next Monday. His season closses in two weeks at Phoenix, Ariz. From there he goes to London, England, where he has a five-weeks engagement at the Hippodrome.

He prefers the small city to the large ones, and when taken for an automobile ride over the city yesterday, was very favorably impressed with the cleanliness here.

While serving in the British navy for several years, Mr. Curran thought out the idea of an aerial act on a long pole. He has been successful with this act at many of the state fairs in the United States this year.

The airplane from the Meister Airplane Co., of St. Joseph is expected to arrive in Maryville this afternoon. The Plane will be here every day this week except Wednesday, when it will participate in the dedication of the St. Joseph Municipal Field.

Festival Fragments

Two small boys at the Burlington station yesterday afternoon were discussing the probable length of the special train. They announced to the whole crowd they had been fooled on the circus, which showed here in August.

As the carnival special pulled in and its long line of cars passed in review before the boys' bulging eyes, one of them shouted:

Another feature of the fall festival is the dances held under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion at the W. O. W. hall. The dances will start at 9 o'clock each evening and Bovard's orchestra will furnish the music.

The local post of the United Spanish War Veterans has an exhibit of war and Indian relics as well as numerous other articles of historical value on display in the Lippman building north of the Farmers Trust Co. The exhibit includes a number of interesting collections of guns, knives, rare coins and paper money, photographs, Indian arrows, etc. A piece of the dirigible Shenandoah, wrecked in Ohio on September 3, is also on display. The proceeds from the admissions will be used to purchase a stand of silk colors for the local post.

HALT EFFORTS OF SALVAGING

STORMY WATERS HOLD UP SUBMARINE OPERATIONS.

LITTLE HOPE FOR MEN

Officer Denies Report That S-51 Was In Inexperienced Hands—All Aboard Were Good Seamen.

Block Island, R. I., Sept. 28.—All operations for the salvaging of the sunken submarine S-51 and the possible rescue of the thirty-four men believed to have been entombed when she was rammed and Sunk Friday night by the City of Rome, were suspended indefinitely shortly before noon today when a high wind raised a choppy sea and forced the salvaging ships to retire to the lee of Block Island.

The sea, it was said, was so heavy as to endanger the lives of the divers who had been getting slings about the submarine preparing it for lifting by the salvaging ships, Century and Monarch.

New London, Conn., Sept. 28.—Indignant denial of a report that the S-51 was in charge of inexperienced officers at the time of its fateful collision with the City of Rome was entered today by Lieut.-Com. H. A. Flanigan, executive officer in charge of the local case.

There were student officers aboard, he said, but all of them were qualified navigators and seamen.

New London, Conn., Sept. 28.—For the first time since the S-51 was rammed and sunk Friday night, the full lifting force of three hundred tons necessary to raise her was to be applied today.

The giant craneship Monarch, arriving at the lee of Block Island before dawn, was ordered to proceed to the site of the rescue work. What slender thread of hope still was held by the wives of the thirty-four men who went down with the submarine and to sailors and rescue crews whose frenzied efforts have cleared the way for the raising of the striken submarine depended this morning on the Monarch.

The submarine lies at a depth of 127 feet. The salvaging boats expected to raise her at the rate of a foot an hour, should their combined powers be sufficient.

Diving crews, working under the direction of nationally-known divers, had fixed a sling around the stern of the S-51 which lies canted with bow on the sea, stern clear.

Says Crew Knew of Changes in Valves

Shenandoah Survivor Refutes Testimony Of Famous German Dirigible Expert In Blaming Gas System.

Lakehurst, N. J., Sept. 28.—Lieut. Roland Mayer, construction officer aboard the ill-fated Shenandoah, today refuted decisively the charge of Anton Heinen, German dirigible expert, that the reduction in the valve system aboard the Shenandoah caused her destruction.

Mayer, testifying before the naval board of inquiry investigating the cause of the disaster, declared the valve changes were made "to save weight, and it was known to us that the changes were not detrimental to the operation of the ship."

"The change was considered since the ship was first in commission," he said.

Mayer explained the operation of an automatic valve from one brought from the wrecked ship into the court. He showed how the valve released gas automatically in relation to the atmospheric pressure on the gas cells.

Frances and Ella Marjory Shell spent the week end at the home of Alice May Dakan, south of Maryville.

CAILLAUX IN NEW EFFORT

IS SHREWD BARGAINER

Paris Finance Minister Lives Up to Advanced Notices—He Stresses "Poverty" of His Government

Washington, Sept. 28—Joseph Caillaux, French finance minister, raised his ante today in the negotiations for the funding of France's four-billion-dollar war debt, but he did not raise it high enough to reach a settlement.

Under insistent pressure from the Americans to come forth with something that will at least approach the previous settlements by the debt commission with seven other European nations, Caillaux submitted a revised schedule of payments but it still fell short of meeting American expectations and he withdrew it again to make further modifications.

Washington, Sept. 28.—The Franco-American debt negotiators came back to the big mahogany table in the treasury council room today after a week-end spent by the negotiators in gradually edging closer to an agreement.

There is still a wide gap between what the French want to pay and what the Americans believe France can and should pay.

Progress was made, however, over Sunday in the private discussions between Joseph Caillaux, French finance minister, and Andrew Mellon, Secretary of Treasury, and the two commissions came together this morning with confidence undiminished that their business will be concluded this week.

Caillaux is proving the shrewd bargainer that the Americans expected.

Across various dining tables in the last forty-eight hours, the French finance minister has stressed with great fervor his country's impoverishment and its unenviable fiscal situation.

St. Louis Man Quits State Highway Board

Murray Carleton Presents Resignation And Baker Accepts It—Hugh Stephens May Be Named.

Jefferson City, Sept. 28.—Governor Sam A. Baker today received and accepted the resignation of Murray Carleton of St. Louis as a member of the state highway commission. The governor tendered the appointment to fill out the unexpired term to Hugh Stephens, Democrat and wealthy retired business man of Jefferson City.

Stephens has not yet indicated whether he will accept the appointment.

The term of Carleton does not expire until December 6, 1927. He gave as his reason for resigning the condition of his health, which has not been the best in the last few years and which has prevented him from participating in many of the important sessions of the commissions.

The next vacancy on the board will be that for the term that is now being filled by C. D. Matthews, Republican of Sikeston, which expires December 6, 1925.

Aged Pickering Man Dies This Morning

Alonzo Leech, 78, Succumbs to Complication of Diseases—Has Been in Failing Health.

Alonzo Leech, 78 years old, died about 8 o'clock this morning at his home in Pickering of a complication of diseases. He had been failing in health for some time, and this morning became ill a short time after getting up. He died an hour later. Funeral arrangements will be announced tomorrow.

Mr. Leech located in the Mozingo Valley neighborhood in 1869 and lived there until his removal to Pickering six years ago. He was born in Ohio and came to Iowa when a child.

His widow, three sons, and one daughter survive. They are Harry Leech, Inderlyn, N. Dak., Lloyd Leech, Denver, Colo., Joe Leech, Winifred, Mont., and Mrs. Albert Wray of Hopkins.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

THIS WEEK IN MISSOURI HISTORY.
—Compiled By—
The State Historical Society of Missouri, Columbia.
Floyd C. Shoemaker, Secretary
September 27-October 3.

This week might well be called "Political First Week" in Missouri history. The anniversaries of many important events connected with the political development of the state fall within its span of seven days; so many, in fact, that it is difficult to select any one as more significant than the others.

One event which strikes the popular imagination particularly is the Centralia Massacre, which took place September 27, 1864, just sixty-one years ago. All central Missouri was aroused by the horrors of that famous Civil War engagement, in which 150 to 175 Union troops under Major Johnson were almost annihilated by Bill Anderson and his followers, the number of whom has been estimated at about 200.

But more important than incidents of war, are the constructive political events, the anniversaries of which fall in this week. Among these are: the first proclamation by a Missouri state governor, the passage of Missouri's first state law, the first popular remonstrance made by the people of Missouri, the Treaty of San Ildefonso, the division of Louisiana into two territories, the initial operation of Missouri's new territorial government, the division of Missouri into five counties, the establishment of the permanent seat of government at Jefferson City, and the election of Missouri's first United States senators.

So replete with anniversaries are the first few days of October, that Missouri Day was inaugurated in 1915, and observed on the first of October of that year. That incident, in itself, adds an interesting anniversary to the long list just enumerated.

It was on September 28, 1820, one hundred and five years ago, that Governor Alexander McNair issued his first proclamation, declaring the election (in August, 1820) of John Scott as Missouri's first congressman. Scott was also the last Missouri delegate to Congress, before the organization of the state government. It is a remarkable fact that party politics played no part in the election of our state's first officers. Each citizen voted for the men of his own choice, for there were no well-defined political parties in Missouri at that time. Besides serving as Missouri's representative in Congress, Scott was also one of the framers of Missouri's first constitution.

On the same day that Scott was declared elected, the General Assembly met and passed Missouri's first law, which had to do with the election of United States senators.

Then, on the twenty-ninth of September, falls the one hundred and twenty-first anniversary of the first popular remonstrance ever made by Missouri people. This remonstrance was the fruit of probably the first popular representative gathering ever held west of the Mississippi. The occasion for this act, as Floyd C. Shoemaker shows in his "Missouri's Struggle for Statehood," was the act of Congress of March 26, 1804, which was to take effect on the first of October of that year, and which provided for the attachment of Upper Louisiana tothe Indiana Territory. The fact that the act left no provision for self-government led to the dissatisfaction which was expressed by this "remonstrance and petition of the representatives elected by the freemen of the districts in the District of Louisiana to Congress," as the document was called. Other considerations entered in, also, but the matter of self-government was, no doubt, foremost.

Five events occurred on the first of October of 1800, 1804, 1812, and 1826, respectively. First, the Treaty of San Ildefonso, was made between Spain and France, ceding the whole of Louisiana to the latter. Just what the political fate of Missouri would be today, had this treaty not been made, is a matter of speculation. Historians say, however, that political union with the United States would have been achieved, anyhow; probably by the same course which led Texas into the Union.

The second event of October 1, was the going into effect of the "Law of March 26," which has already been spoken of. Under this law Louisiana was divided into the Territory of New Orleans and the Territory of Louisiana. Missouri was included in the latter.

On October 1, 1812, the third event took place. The new government of the Territory of Missouri was set in operation; and at the same time, the name "Missouri" was first applied to the land. It had been used in connection with the river some one hundred years earlier, but records show no evidence of the name being used to designate the land previous to this date.

On the same day, Missouri was divided into five counties. This division followed more or less closely the political division of the District of Missouri, which, it will be remembered, was in use at the time of the first popular remonstrance, in 1804. The five counties were St. Charles, St Louis, Ste. Genevieve, Cape Girardeau, and New Madrid.

On October 1, 1826, the permanent seat of government was established at Jefferson City. The capitol building, which had been begun in 1823, was completed and ready for occupation. The state had had several temporary seats of government before this.

October 2, 1820, although it is remembered for only one event, is hardly surpassed in importance by any single day in the state's history. It was on that date that Missouri's first United States senators were elected. We have already noted that provisions was made by the General Assembly, in its first law, for this election. David Barton, who was at that time very popular over the state, was easily elected as one of the senators, but Thomas H. Benton, who later became Missouri's greatest senator, had more opposition. The story is widely told of how Daniel Ralls, one of Benton's men in the legislature, was on his death-bed at the time of the election and had to be carried into the legislative hall in his bed in order that he might cast his ballot for his friend. Benton was elected senator, but Daniel Ralls did not live to share the enjoyment of his success. Ralls County was named in his honor.

On Saturday night at 9:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Bagley, 521 S. Buchanan street, occurred the marriage of their only daughter, Miss Evia Bagley, to Ernest Cox of Kansas City. The Rev. R. A. Mitchell, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, read the service in the parlor, which was attractively decorated with blue and white autumn flowers and crepe. The wedding march was played by Miss Minnie Horn, a cousin of the bride. Mrs. Cox's gown was of poudre blue flat crepe trimmed with silver lace and sapphire and pearl ornaments, sent by her brother, W. L. Bagley, while in services in the Argonne. She carried a bouquet of roses. After the ceremony a two-course luncheon was served by Miss Cook, Miss Horn and Mrs. Wesley Bagley. The ceremony was witnessed by Mrs. R. A. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Bagley, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bagley, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bagley, W. L. Bagley, Miss Mabel Cook of Blockton, Ia., and Miss Minnie Horn of Elmo. P. E. O.'s Observe Guest Day.

Guest day was observed at the first meeting of the season of Chapter L, P. E. O., Saturday afternoon and evening at the Country Club. Sixteen members of Chapter K at Hopkins were entertained and each member of the hostess chapter was permitted to bring a guest. Yellow and white, the chapter colors, were used in the table decorations and in the three-course luncheon served at 5:30 o'clock. Baskets of vari-colored autumn flowers were placed at points of vantage in the lounge. Covers were laid for seventy-nine members and guests.

The luncheon was followed by a lecture given by Mrs. W. T. Martin of Albany, who is well known in northwest Missouri through her connection with the fine arts department of the First district, Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs. "The Unity of the Fine Arts" was the topic upon which Mrs. Martin spoke. The speaker emphasized the need of appreciation of liberal arts. She told of their value in the schools as well as the home, and pointed out that "through the study of art appreciation we become more familiar with art, poetry and music." Her lecture was made up of a description of four art masterpieces, a brief history of the artists and what inspired them, and parts of classics, which she recited with understanding and sympathy. The works of art discussed were "Pot of Basil" by John W. Alexander, Millet's "The Man With the Hoe," Jules Breton's "Song of the Lark," and the mythological painting, "The Aurora." Mrs. Martin speaks with delightful ease and she held the closest attention of her audience.

The following members from Chapter K at Hopkins were present: Mrs. W. L. Robb, Mrs. W. L. Moorhead, Mrs. E. C. Wolfers, Mrs. C. E. Donlin, Mrs. H. A. Dalby, Mrs. R. A. Turner, Mrs. A. F. Her veil of tulle was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white Killarney roses and orange blossoms. Miss Marie Steinhauser was her sister's brides maid, and her gown was of peacock blue canton crepe with hat and other accessories of corresponding shade. Just the Distance.

A traveler riding over the northwestern prairies in the old days inquired of a native, "Does Walter Malter live near here?"

"No," was the reply.

"Well, do you happen to know where I can find him?"

"No," said the other.

The traveler was puzzled. "Dear me," he said, "I must have lost my way. Perhaps you can tell me where Mr. William Bluff, familiarly known as 'Grizzily Bill,' hangs out."

"I can. Right here. I am Grizzily Bill."

"But," expostulated the tenderfoot traveler, "they told me that Malter lived within gunshot of you."

"Well," said the other, "he did."—From Everybody's Magazine for October.

Memphis, Mo., Sept. 25.—After giving a 90-day trial of police regulations for enforcement of local traffic rules on parking, street turns and stops at intersections, the city council found it necessary to draft a traffic ordinance. The council took this action after Harry Stocks, city attorney, gave the opinion that violaters could not be fined for violating the police rules and after failing to approve a plan providing for a special traffic officer.

Brilliant Stars of Early Winter Will Soon Appear Above Eastern Horizon

Washington, Sept. 28.—Above the eastern horizon soon will appear brilliant stars of early winter. Pegasus takes up a position that means frosty nights. On October 7, says a bulletin of the American Association, Jupiter will be in quadrature with the Sun. That is, it will be ninety degrees east of the Sun and on the Meridian due south at Sunset.

Mars is on the far side of its orbit from the earth. Its distance from the earth will decrease from 245,700,000 miles to 238,100,000 miles during October. The Big Dipper will be far over in the northwest during October. This noted group of stars never sets in the mid-latitudes of the northern hemisphere.

Venus To Be Evening Star.

October star gazers will find that the constellation of Capricornus, The Sea Goat, and Aquarius, the Water-bearer, two constellations of the Zodiac that contain no stars brighter than the third magnitude, have taken the place of the brilliant Zodical group of Scorpio and Sagittarius that were conspicuous in the southern sky during the summer. Scorpio is far over in the southwest at sunset this month. Venus, which has been visible in the western sky after sunset since late in June, passes from Libra through Scorpio in October and will be seen as Evening Star in the southwest for about two hours after sunset.

Saturn will also be seen for a short time after sunset a little to the northwest of Venus, but before October is over it will be too close to the sun to be seen in the twilight.

Jupiter is still in the constellation of Sagittarius, directly north of the little inverted milk dipper, and it will be next to Venus the most brilliant object in view in the southwestern heavens in the early evening.

Cassiopeia lies directly opposite to the Big Dipper with the north pole of the heavens about midway between the two groups, so when the Big Dipper is close to the northern horizon, Cassiopeia rides high in the heavens.

Cassiopea lies about halfway between the curved line of three, second magnitude stars in Andromeda and the North Star. The star Alpha in Andromeda is the farthest west of these stars and in the north eastern corner of the Great Square in Pagasus. This Great Square, which is of enormous size, is one of the most distinctive configurations in the heavens and one that every star gazer should know.

Milky Way.

The Milky Way may be traced on clear, dark evenings in October diagonally across the heavens from the northeast to the western horizon, passing from Auriga, now rising in the northeast with its beautiful, yellow, first magnitude star, Capella, through Perseus, Cassiopeia and Cepheus to Cygnus where it is divided into two branches, one passing through Aquila in the west and the other to Ophiuchus on the northwestern horizon.

When the Great Square in Pegasus is seen high in the eastern sky and the Northern Cross in Cygnus has passed to the west of the meridian it is a sure sign that the clear, frost nights of October are here.

Far over in the southeast now appears the brilliant Formalhaut in the constellation of Piscis Australis, The Southern Fish, which is visible in our latitudes only for a brief period in the fall and early winter. Formalhaut is one of the twenty brightest stars in the heavens and also a near neighbor to the solar system, its distance from the solar system being about twenty five light years or one hundred and thirty trillion miles.

What Becomes of Milk?

Of the 26,000,000 cows annually producing 114,666,201,000 pounds of milk, three per cent is lost at milking-time, in the tiny tragedies like "kicking the bucket." Other uses are: four per cent for feeding calves forty-six per cent for household purposes; forty-six and nine-tenths per cent for manufactured products.

Of the national milk production used for manufactured products, percentages are as follows: Creamery butter, twenty-five per cent; farm butter, eleven per cent; cheese of all kinds, three and six-tenth per cent; ice cream three and four-tenth per cent; condensed and evaporated milk, three and seven-tenths per cent.

Auto Owners Have Opportunity to Get Relief From Taxation Burden by Uniting

St. Louis, Sept. 28.—Automobile owners have a splendid opportunity to secure relief from the pressing burden of taxation, if they will act as a united cohort and urge action for the repeal of the war excise tax on their representatives in the Sixty-ninth Congress, according to a statement issued today by Matthew F. Morse, secretary of the Automobile Club of Missouri.

Declaring that the repeal of the excise tax alone on automobiles and parts would average a yearly saving of approximately $10 apiece on every automobile in the United States, Mr. Morse suggested that not only members of the club, but all local motorists should get in touch with their Senators and Congressmen and urge that part of the $350,000,000 surplus available for tax relief be applied to the repeal of the excise tax on automobiles, parts and accessories.

"Last year," he said "largely through the combined efforts of the Automobile Clubs through their National Organization, the American Automobile Association, Congress reduced the tax on accessories and parts from 5 per cent to 2½ per cent. This made a saving to the motorists of the country of $25,000,000 per year but it was only a drop in the bucket compared with the savings that will be made possible if the excise tax is wiped off the statue books.

"This was a war measure and as such the motorists submitted and paid. Now seven years after the close of the war the millions of motorists using the automobile as a necessity in daily life are paying approximately $150,000,000 in the form of a tax levy into the general fund of the United States Treasury to be applied to general Government needs.

"The tax on every new automobile of the average value of $825 is $30. The manufacturer passes it on directly to the motorists. The latter is so advised in national advertisement and if he doubts this all he has to do is look at his invoice.

"Many congressional leaders have indicated that they favor repeal, but there will be some opposition. This opposition can be overcome only when and if the motorists make their wishes clearly known to their own representatives and demand to be relieved immediately from any economic wrong and a gross discrimination against a class which is already doing much more than its share in the upkeep of national, state and local government.

Red Cross Jrs. Virgin Islands Send Shells

The lure of the tropics and the charm of southern seas are symbolized by a unique collection of shells, beads, fossils and coral formations just received in Maryville from the Virgin Islands. The gift is in response to Christmas boxes which Maryville sent to the Virgin Islands last Christmas under the auspices of the American Junior Red Cross.

This inter-school correspondence and exchange of gifts is one feature of the Junior Red Cross program and has for its aim the drawing together into a closer bond of friendship peoples who live in widely separated parts of the world.

The shells, fern fossils and coral formations are of unusual beauty, intricate in design and delicately tinted. These bits of the sea will be treasured by the children of an inland city whose imaginations will be stirred by gifts so typical of that tropic region.

The shells were sent in by Altiman Samuel and John Jacobs, and a string of bright colored seeds, made by Clay Brown, were received this morning at the Red Cross office. These pupils belong to the Junior Red Cross and are in the Fourth A grade of the George Washington School in the Virgin Islands.

The Nodaway County Schools that contributed Christmas boxes last Christmas and received in the Virgin Islands are Barnard, Burlington Junction, Conception Junction, Graham, Guilford and the following in Maryville, Douglas, Garfield, Jefferson and St. Mary's.

SMITH BEGINS 1928 CAMPAIGN

GOVERNOR ADDRESSES BIG DEMOCRATIC PICNIC IN CHICAGO.

CONFERS WITH LEADERS

Smith Doesn't Mention Prohibition, Klan or Presidential Nomination.

Chicago, Sept. 28—Governor Smith of New York opened his new campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination in an address at Cook County Democrat's picnic yesterday before a crowd estimated at one hundred thousand.

Dressed in formal black, with a pink rose in his buttonhole, the governor outlined a tentative program of reform in Washington that would save 200 million dollars a year and bring governmental affairs in line with the progress in science and business in this "airplane age."

Those who had expected a fiery attack on dry or Ku Klux Klan issues, with an outspoken declaration of White House ambitions, were disappointed. These were reserved for private discussion, while the political planning for the future was undertaken in a suite at the Blackstone hotel, where the governor camped for the day with Democratic leaders from several states who had come to Chicago for this significant event.

Notes On An Envelope

The crowd was yelling for Al long before he began his speech, which was made without preparation except for the jotting down of a few subjects on the back of an envelope marked "Executive Mansion, Albany."

"There is a propaganda now being circulated that the heavy burden of taxation is from local sources and that the federal government is affecting a wonderful economy," he said.

"We ought to know the facts. The reductions in national expenditures are due largely to the changing of the country from a war to a peace basis. In the states and cities an attempt is being made to catch up with public improvements delayed by the war. In the war the government requested the states not to use men and materials required for war. There was a lull in improvements. It is not entirely fair to the cities and states to seek to put the blame there.

Must Fight Reaction.

"No piece of progressive legislation ever was enacted without a long struggle against the forces of reaction. In the last twenty years we have passed through a period of the greatest material achievements the world ever has known. We have seen the development of the motor car, the submarine, the airplane, the radio. One thing has stood still, and that is the process of government particularly in the states and at Washington.

"Senator Curtis has suggested consolidation of the scattered activities at Washington would effect an annual saving of about 200 million dollars.

"We are on a fair way to solution of some of these problems, to the end that the government keep harmonious step with business, science, medicine and the great developments of the last twenty years."

Wis. Senatorial Election Tomorrow

Voters To Decide On Successor Of LaFollete at Election—Candidates Finish Appeals.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 28.—With one leading candidate urging Republican voters to stand by the policies of the administration at Washington and the principles of President Coolidge and another assailing them and demanding recognition and furtherance of LaFollete principles, the special senatorial campaign which will result in a selection of a successor to the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette tomorrow, neared its close Saturday.

All four active candidates were making final appeals for support at meetings held in various parts of the state.

Edward Dithmar, Baraboo, former lieutenant governor, who entered the race after the primary election, September 15, as an independent Republican on the Coolidge-Dawes platform, invaded the first congressional district of Janesville, Rock county, long a stronghold of partisans favoring the administration at Washington.

Robert LaFollette, who obtained the party nomination in the primary, continued to attack the administration at Washington and advocated "no surrender of LaFollette principles," as laid down by his late father. He spoke at Portage.

Mr. Bruce urged the early promotion of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterways project; complete restoration of Lake levels and curtailment of diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago.

Speaking at Racine, John M. Work, Socialist, assailed LaFollette for unprogressive utterances, declaring that the young candidate, despite his pledge to stand by the principles of the senior LaFollette was in fact, breaking away from them.

3,000,000 Cheers

When Congress reduces federal taxes it should exempt from the income tax law all married men making less than $5000 and all single men whose incomes do not exceed $4000, says Rep. John N. Garner, leading Democrat on the House Ways and Means Committee. This would exempt 3,000,000 people now paying income taxes.

French Debt Offer Is Quite Unofficial

American Memorandum Must Not Be Confused With Note—Must Re-Examine French Obligations.

By GEORGE SCHILLING

(Special Correspondent of the L'Agence Radio Telegraphique.)

Washington, Sept. 28.—As could only have been expected from a man of such financial ability as Mr. Mellon a denial has been given to a certain part of the American press, which had announced that the French offer for funding of the French debt to America had been rejected by the American commission. As a matter of fact, the French offer was quite unofficial, as has been the American memorandum which must not be confused with a note in the full sense of the word.

That some difference of opinion between the two parties exists there is no doubt. But, when one looks into the matter more closely one finds that these divergencies will be composed if the negotiators do not depart from the affirmations in the speeches they made upon meeting for the first time.

In some political circles which are supposed to be in favor of leniency to France it has been said that on the whole the American Congress would not be opposed to the American funding commission according treatment to France on the Belgo-American basis. Let us explain immediately to the American leaders that even if such a favorable treatment was accorded to France it would be quite impossible for her, with the British settlement in view to pay annually different sums which would be more than 13½ per cent of the total of the French national revenue.

One thing is sure. Mr. Caillaux is not going to engage his country if the Franco-American settlement does not make a special provision for the re-examination of the French obligations, in case the assets of France should decrease after the settlement had been in operation for some years.

A New Lineup Against Governor Len Small

Chicago, Sept. 28.—The arrival of Col. Frank L. Smith is awaited here for completion of a new alignment in the Illinois Republican senatorial fight. Smith is due here Tuesday to attend a session of the Commerce Commission of which he is chairman.

Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom a Smith supporter, and Former Attorney General Edward J. Brundage, defeated by the former in the 1924 primary, are here and are reported to be holding secret meetings. It was made known that Brundage and his adherent will assist Carlstrom in the fight for Smith.

Observers foresaw a new political lineup against Governor Len Small because of the latter's refusal to announce he would support Smith for candidate for senate.

Six years ago the Brundage faction supported U. S. Senator William B. McKinley and fought Smith. McKinley is in Chicago, discussing his campaign for re-election with his supporters.

ARMY HAS ONLY 15 FIT FOR COMBAT

(By LARRY BOARDMAN)
NEA Service Writer

planes fit for combat use should America suddenly be forced to go to war!

That's the fighting strength of the army air service, an official survey of all the military flying fields shows.

Not A Chance.

Sending one of these obsolete planes into battle against a modern aircraft "would be exactly like a river steamer going into a naval engagement against a first-class battleship," a high army officer says.

"It wouldn't even have a ghost of a chance."

At Brooks Field, Tex., are 50 training planes for "green student flyers, and at Kelly Field, nearby, 27 training planes for more advanced students.

One Amphibian Plane.

Mitchell Field, L. I., has 30 planes. All of them were built during the war and are now obsolete.

The fifty planes at Langley Field, Va., include 15 obsolete war-time Martins and 35 training planes of various types. Of the latter one is a new, up-to-date Loening amphibian. The others are old and worn out.

At Selfridge Field, Mich., there are 40 pursuit planes. Of these 15 are modern, first-class Curtis and Boeing planes. The rest are Thomas Morse planes, which are not battle planes.

At Bolling Field, near Washington, there are 12 old DeHavilands, three of which have been rebuilt; two Sperry messengers; and one small Vought training plane.

Rockwell Field, near San Diego, has six old De Havilands.

An army air service headquarters officer, who for obvious reasons requested that his name be withheld, summed up the condition of the country's air forces as follows:

"General Mitchell stated that we have only 19 planes fit for combat use.

"When he made that statement about a year ago, it was undoubtedly true.

"Of the 19 planes he referred to I know that at least four have crashed and are now out of commission.

"Our entire combat strength represented by the 15 Curtis and Boeing pursuit planes at Selfridge Field—and there may not be that many now.

"The only other up-to-date plane we have is the Loening amphibian.

Flaming Coffins.

"Some of these are known as 'flaming coffins.' They have caused the death of many a good flyer. And yet we go on buying them!

"The training planes and messenger planes serve their purpose well enough, but of course these are not combat planes.

"Besides the planes now in use there are a number of planes in storage. These, however, are old war-time models, now entirely obsolete.

"Secretary Weeks has stated that we could put 1,500 planes in the air in a pinch. Counting all the training planes and the planes in storage, we probably could.

"But we have 15, not 1,500, first-class fighting planes."

SCOPES CASE TO HIGH COURT

TO DETERMINE ITS COLD LEGAL ASPECTS.

LEADERS ARE ABSENT

Proceedings Simple and Uneventful—Justices in Quandry—All Up for Re Election.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 28—Shorn of its original passion and drama the famous Scopes evolution case was brought before the Tennessee Supreme Court here today for a cold judicial determination of its legal aspects.

Gone were the dust and heat, the bitter wrangling, the religious strife, the passionate oratory, which marked the trial at Dayton. Here before Tennessee's highest court the case was called in an atmosphere of legal calm.

All the figures that dominated the scene at Dayton were absent. William Jennings Bryan, the militant crusader against evolution, is dead. Clarence Darrow, the fiery standard bearer for science, took no part in the formal appeal here today.

In the place of the evangelical Judge Raulston, who presided at Dayton, sat five distinguished justices, severe and unruffled by the popular interest in the case that had come before the bar of their court.

The proceedings today were simple and uneventful. The plain little courtroom, smaller even than that county courtroom at Dayton, was still. There was no crowd. It was the day the court regularly convened after the summer recess. There was no departure from the usual procedure.

Scopes Case Called

One of the first cases read off the docket by Col. Sam Cleage, handsome white haired clerk of the court, was—"John Thomas Scopes vs. the State of Tennessee."

John R. Neal, of Knoxville, the only one of the Scopes attorneys present, asked that the hearing of the arguments be deferred until late in the term, explaining that he and his associates had not had time to finish preparation of their briefs.

He further asked that the court set a date for the hearing of the arguments inasmuch as, excepting himself all members of the Scopes counsel were from outside the state and would want to be able to arrange their appointments so as to be able to attend.

Frank Thompson, of Nashville, state attorney general, made no objection and it was understood the court would grant the request for a specific date to consider the Scopes appeal.

The Supreme Court of Tennessee before which the Scopes case came today in the first appeal of its expected career to the Supreme Court of the United States consists of five justices who have had long and distinguished legal careers.

Grafton Green, of Lebanon, the chief justice, who is now serving his 15th year on the supreme court bench comes from a family long famous in Tennessee law circles. His father was also a supreme court judge. The Chief Justice is a graduate of Cumberland University, at Lebanon, a Presbyterian college considered in his day the best law school in the state. He practiced in Nashville until 1910, when he was elected to the supreme court. He is now in the last year of his second eight-year term and is up for re-election next August. He is 53 and a Presbyterian.

Frank P. Hall, of Dresden, associate justice, is serving his first term as supreme court judge but previous to his election in 1918 he served for eight years as a judge of the court of civil appeals. He is a graduate of Cumberland University, is 55 years old, and a Southern Methodist.

Colin P. McKinney, of Ripley, is a graduate of Bingham Military Academy at Asheville and the University of Virginia. He was chancellor for eight years before he was elected to the supreme bench in 1918.

Governor's Appointees

The remaining two members of the court are appointees of Gov. Austin Peay, the governor who signed the anti-evolution bill and who since then has strongly and on many occasions defended it. William L. Cook was a Nashville attorney and a personal friend of Peay.

Alexander Wilds Chambliss, of Chattanooga was born in Greenville, S. C., the son and grandson of a minister. He came to Chattanooga when a young man and began practicing law. Two years after his arrival he was elected to the state senate and two years after that he was elected mayor of Chattanooga.

In 1919, after a lapse of 14 years from public life, the people of Chattanooga again elected him mayor. Last year Gov. Peay appointed him to the supreme court bench. Chambliss is a mason, an Elk, a K. of P., a Civitan, a Baptist. In 1921 he was elected vice president of the Southern Baptist convention.

All of the judges are up for re-election next August. All of them are Democrats. Gov. Peay, who appointed two of the justices, is expected to run for a third term, in which case he too will be up for re-election next August.

Supt. Burch visited the school Thursday morning.

Jerry Says.

Mary had a little lamb,
Its fleece was white I guess,
She sheared the sheep and wove the cloth;
And made herself a dress.

They called it "lacy woolen then,"
The men folks they wore jeans.
To shear and spin and weave those days;
They had to know their beans.

And Mary had eleven kids,
For which to weave and spin,
And wash and dress and send to school;
Then put her garden in.

And Mary milked the old red cow,
That had the crumpled horn,
And nursed and spanked the babies;
And helped to tend the corn

Now Mary's great grand-daughter,
(They call her Mar-guer-ite),
Can't do a thing her grand-ma did;
But "ain't?" she cute and sweet.

Won't Live Long If Think Only Good Time

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 28.—"You young girls who think you are having such a good time from wild parties won't live long" "Aunt Debby" Lockwood warned today as she rounded her 100th birthday.

"The girl who thinks only of jazz will be punished," the centenarian said. "The Lord will punish her just as he has rewarded me with my years for not being a flapper."

"Aunt Debby" as she is known to her friends told how she rode the very first train that ever puffed along the Hudson river. It was pulled by a De Witt Clinton engine.

The Red letter day of her life was when she traveled in a covered wagon from New York to Florida, fording deep treacherous streams. One of her most thrilling experiences was her first automobile ride.

But she has never seen a movie.

One Thin Woman Gained 10 Pounds in 20 Days

SKINNY MEN CAN DO THE SAME

That's going some—but skinny men, women and children just can't help putting on good, healthy flesh when they take McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

As chock full of vitamines as the nasty, fishy tasting cod liver oil itself, but these sugar-coated, tasteless tablets are as easy to take as candy and won't upset the stomach.

One woman gained ten pounds in twenty-one days. Sixty tablets, sixty cents. Money back if not satisfied. Ask Maryville Drug Co., and Gaugh & Evans or any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. Directions and formula on each box.

Public Approval Cannot Be Bought—

—it cannot be coaxed—it must be earned!

When an individual or a group of individuals seeks public approval, the task becomes difficult.

When a private enterprise so large as to be classed as an important unit of big business earns the seal of public approbation, it is an achievement.

That this goal has been reached by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is indicated by the fact that today there are 49,277 stockholders, as against 4623 in 1919.

This splendid increase is prima facie evidence that the public approves the way in which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) operates. When the public invests its money in a business it is an expression, in a material way, of confidence in the management of the Company.

It is recognition that the policies of the Company are sound and constructive—all of which means that the Directors of this Company have succeeded in getting across to the public, the sincerity of purpose animating its every action.

This has been accomplished in a quiet, orderly fashion, by the simple process of letting every act stand on its own merit and abide the test of time.

Every practice that has been incorporated by this Company is animated by a spirit of service, inspired by the will to serve, and executed with fixed determination that the service rendered to thirty million people of ten Middle Western states should be as complete and comprehensive as human ingenuity, enthusiastic energy and specialized brains can make it.

It is this indomitable will to serve plus an ability to follow through that has earned for this Company the approbation of the general public and an unique place among America's foremost institutions of essential service.

Oddities

By United Press.

Winsted, Conn.,—A record breaking cold wave for this early in the fall gripped all Northwestern Connecticut killing unharvested crops and forming ice on pools and ponds.

Washington—John White can interpret his own dreams. A stranger asked White to change a $1,000 bill but John had dreamed previously that he saw a thousand policemen in front of his store. Putting two and two together he called the cops. The money was counterfeit.

Washington—Traffic Director Eldridge must decide when shall fire apparatus blow their sirens. One man complained that the blowing of the siren near his home annoys him. A second complaint is that a fire wagon "sneaked" up on a pedestrian and nearly sent him to a hospital because no warning was sounded.

Washington—George Lacey was asked by Judge Mattingly how often he appeared in court. The prisoner replied every time he got "soused." "How often is that?" the court asked. "Every time I come here," George said. "You wont be back for thirty days," his honor replied.

New York—Two children, a girl, 13, and her brother, 11, are sought by police on charges of stealing pocketbooks from mourners in a large cemetery here. The two had previously been paroled for a similar offense, and police traced recent thefts to them.

New York—Chorus girls are tired of lobster suppers with stage hangers on. They have applied to the Salvation army for a home where they can live simply and economically when out of a job.

New York—New models in winter furs, heavy cloaks and great coats were worn by most of the first class passengers on the Mauretania when it sailed today.

New York—What everyone expects when he stops to watch a piano being hoisted actually happened on Grand Street. Two windows on the ground floor and the piano were smashed.

Sedalia, Ohio—John Swaney, farmer near here, was working in his garden when a toy balloon dropped at his feet. It was marked with the name of a drug firm in Shelton, Wash.

Cleveland, Ohio—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dumbell grew weary of the wisecracking of their friends. They were granted permission by Judge Alexander Hadden to take the name of Bell.

Chicago—The effect of absence on love hasn't changed. Don. C. Becker 20, eloped with Margaret A. Redmond, 17, last January, but the marriage was annulled and Margaret sent to California "to forget." She didn't. Don and Margaret were married in Indiana before her parents learned she had returned.

Haverhill, Mass.—There are some things the millions of Henry Ford cannot buy. He wanted an old grist mill at Atkinson Depot near here but Mrs. Albert C. Burrows, its owner would not sell at any price because the mill had been in her family for so many generations.

Boston—Two hundred Boston policemen are going back to school. This number has enrolled at Boston university for a special course in the fundamentals of Law and Police Etiquette.

Closing Grain Review

Chicago, Sept. 28—Wheat dropped into new low territory on the Board of Trade today. Coarse grain fluctuations were narrow.

Apparent lack of aggressive leadership and absence of outside investment created a disposition to drop holdings. Rallies were feeble and short lived.

Corn was off sympathetically.

Oats followed corn.

Provisions were without support late.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER
By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—The Coolidges, you might say, must be incorrigible jaywalkers, considering all the stories the papers tell of their narrow escapes from being hit by automobiles.

Twice, just before he left Washington for Swampscott, the president had to jump like a kangaroo to dodge speeding cars.

Mrs. Coolidge barely missed being run down by one during the family's stay at the summer capital, and since their return here one of the presidential calls was so close that the driver responsible for it actually was arrested, which means there was no joke or exaggeration about it—the authorities were genuinely and thoroughly scared, and maybe the president was, too.

The truth is the Coolidges are no more reckless than any other pedestrians, but whereas the ordinary individual is endangered right along without attracting the least attention, when it happens to the president or his wife it creates a sensation.

They have a bodyguard with them also to make an effective fuss.

For "cutting corners and failing to give way to a pedestrian," even when an arrest is made, the average bond required in Washington is about $50, but when Nathan D. Smith did it, to the jeopardy of President Coolidge's life, he had to put up $3500.

Probably Nathan will be more careful after this. He may never cross the presidential trail again, but he always will be afraid he will.

Some authorities say these walks President Coolidge takes around the capital are a restraining influence on all drivers in Washington. They never know what minute he'll loom up dead ahead.

If there's anything in this theory it might be a good plan to keep him traveling from city to city, turning up each week or two unannounced, in a new place, to put the fear of God in local drivers' hearts by a series of rambles in the worst of their auto-infested streets.

But perhaps it would be better to see how Nathan D. Smith's experience works on him first.

Sauerkraut is Defined.

After having worried along through many centuries, "sauerkraut" has at last been "officially defined" under food inspection decision 196 of August 18, 1925, by the Joint Committee on Standards of the United States. Without going into detail of scientific definition, you will be interested to know that sauerkraut was found to be what we have always suspected, namely, shredded cabbage, salted and fermented.

Bears Playing in Midseason Form in Their First Game

Springfield, Sept. 28.—In the game with Ozark Wesleyan College of Carthage Friday the Springfield Bears showed mid-season form in interference, and the squad appeared to be in excellent physical condition, according to reports of the game by the Springfield Leader. Commander Rodgers Shows Strain of Long Suffering

This remarkable photograph of Commander John R. Rodgers, taken immediately after he and his crew reached Nawiliwili, Kauai, shows the air hero a haggard and strained man after his ordeal of nine days lost at sea. Yet when the PN-9 No. 1, was towed into harbor, Rodgers was lively in his direction of the mooring, refusnig to leave ship until it was safely anchored. "I don't want to sleep," he told the doctors, "I want to enjoy life." But Rodgers slept anyhow.

Firestone

Double the Mileage at Half the Cost

Only a few years ago a 32 x 4 cord tire listed over $50.00 Today, you can buy the highest quality 32 x 4 tire—a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord—for about $27.50

Last spring crude rubber cost tire makers around 40 cents a pound. Today it is over 90 cents a pound.

It was not so long ago that 7,500 miles represented the average life of a cord tire, while today 15,000 miles—and more—is only the usual performance for a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord.

Due to large, concentrated production, specialized machinery and simplified factory methods, together with economical distribution, Firestone is able to keep tire prices low—no matter where the price of crude rubber goes.

And, because of special Firestone processes, chief among which is Gum-Dipping, motorists are today getting thousands of extra miles by using Gum-Dipped Cords.

Gum-Dipping is an exclusive method used by Firestone. It is an extra process, carried out in special Gum-Dipping plants, after which the cords are put through the usual calendering machines. Gum-Dipping insulates and impregnates every fiber of every cord with rubber, and practically eliminates internal friction and heat, and builds strength and endurance into the tire.

In the day-in and day-out service of taxicabs, buses and trucks—on the cars of hundreds of thousands of motorists everywhere—Gum-Dipped Cords are giving unheard-of mileage, dependability and satisfaction.

Get ready for the coming months of slippery pavements and bad roads. Assure yourself of greater safety, comfort and economy by equipping now with Firestone Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons.
